Governments that adhere to the OECD Guidelines must establish the National Contact Point (NCP) to promote the Guidelines and handle complaints against companies that have allegedly failed to adhere to Guidelines' standards.

The Latvian NCP has a tripartite structure: it includes representatives of Ministries and other governmental institutions, Employers' Confederation of Latvia, Latvian Chamber of commerce and industry, Free Trade Union Confederation of Latvia, and 2 independent experts.

NCP Secretariat is based in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs Department for Economic Relations and Development Cooperation.
